PREFACE

Dear Students,

In this activity book, there are activities at various levels and structures that will allow you to use the knowledge and skills you have gained during the teaching processes. With these activities, you will have the opportunity to both revise the subjects you have studied at school and monitor your academic progress. The activities in this activity book prepared for this purpose were structured to include cognitive domain steps.

In the activity book, besides gap filling, matching, multiple-choice, open-ended, short-answer item type activities, there are some other activities which allow you to have a pleasant time with content such as crossword, wordsearch puzzles, skill-based activity, structured grid, and fun time activities. Also, in the "Do I remember?" section, you will be able to self-evaluate academically and you will have the opportunity to revise the missing topics through the data matrix.

We aim to contribute to your academic development with this activity book, which has been meticulously prepared by experts in the field. Hope to see the positive reflections of this study in your education life.

Matching

1 Match each situation with the best explanation.

- 1 Jane wasn't in a very good mood today.
- 2 Brian got a call and looked very worried.
- 3 The teacher looked delighted today.
- 4 Jack couldn't keep his eyes open.
- 5 Jeff was fired from his job.
- 6 David seems to be broke.

Explanation

- A She could have got a raise.
- B He must not have slept enough.
- C He may have spent all his pocket money.
- D He can't have heard the good news.
- E She may have fought with her brother.
- F He might not have done his work.

2 Read the letters to the 'Ask Sarah' advice column and Sarah's replies. Match the letters with the replies. One reply is extra.

Dear Sarah,
Someone told me that my brother's girlfriend was dating another guy. I felt I should let my brother know, and after I did, he confronted her with the story. Although she denied it, it caused a terrible argument, and they almost broke up. Now, it turns out that the rumour wasn't true, and my brother has stopped speaking to me.
Miserable Sister

Dear Sarah,
I was at a friend's house for dinner last week. I accidentally broke a beautiful vase. It was my friend's mother's favourite wedding present. I offered to pay for it, but she refused. Should I have insisted? I still feel bad about it.
Feeling Guilty

Dear Sarah,
My son is 23 years old. He graduated from university last year, but he can't seem to find a job that he likes. I'm worried that he's not trying hard enough to get a job and be on his own. Meanwhile, he is still spending his father's money.
Tired Mom

Dear _____,
You're making it too easy for him to spend money. Be firm and tell him he has two months to find a job (any job) and gets his own place. He's old enough to take care of himself, but you have to be willing to let him go.
Sarah

B
Dear _____,
You should have thought more carefully before you acted. It wasn't necessary to get angry. Next time, speak to the child immediately and warn him or her not to do it again.
Sarah

C
Dear _____,
Well, you learned a lesson. You shouldn't have listened to gossip, and you shouldn't have passed it in. Now, you have to repair the damage. Apologise sincerely and hope that he will forgive you and forget.
Sarah

D
Dear _____,
I think you did the right thing. It was essential to offer to pay for it, but it's not surprising that she refused. Perhaps you could give her a special gift to make up for it.
Sarah

1 Comment on the actions using should / shouldn't have and the words in brackets.

E.g. A: Someone stole my MP3 player.

B: You shouldn't have left it on your desk. (leave it on your desk)

1. Jenny: I'm disappointed with my exam results.

Arthur: I'm sorry, but you _____. (study more)

2. Kyla: I'm exhausted, and it's only Monday morning!

Ian: You _____ at the weekend. (do so much)

3. Tom: My sister got a huge fine for speeding.

Ashley: She _____. (drive so fast)

4. Betty: Sarah's new dress doesn't suit her at all.

Sue: I agree. She _____. (buy it)

5. David: I feel a bit embarrassed in my jeans. We aren't wearing the right clothes.

Boris: I know. We _____. (dress up)

2 Read the dialogue and complete the extract with must have, may / might have, can't have, or should have.

Woman: So, where are we now?

Man: Well, I think we must be in Park Street. Look, what does the sign say?

Woman: Merton Avenue.

Man: Oh, no. We must have taken the wrong turning again. We should have turned left at the last traffic lights.

Woman: Left! You said 'right'!

Man: OK, I might have said 'right'. It's difficult to read the map in the dark. Anyway, I thought you'd been to this theatre before and knew where you were going.

1. We _____ taken the wrong turning again.

2. We _____ turned left at the last traffic lights.

3. OK, I _____ said 'right'.

3 Fill in the gaps in this dialogue with one suitable word using must, might, or can't have.

Tina: Blast it! I can't believe that we've just been robbed. It (1) must have been because I hadn't closed one of the windows properly.

Rosemary: Don't blame yourself like that. It (2) _____ occurred for an entirely different reason. Anyway, they (3) _____ come through the window. Look how high up we are.

Tina: Don't be so sure. Nothing like that would put real professional burglars off. I'm certain of one thing. They (4) _____ watched the house. Otherwise, they wouldn't have known we were out.

Rosemary: Perhaps. I think it would be a good idea to talk to the neighbours as they (5) _____ seen or heard something.

4 Rewrite the sentences using must have, might have, or can't have.

1. I'm sure the burglar got in through an open window.

1 What comes to your mind when you hear the word Sufism?

Love and Life Lessons from Rumi's Perspective

From songs and poems to novels and movies, love has been one of the most permanent subjects for artworks through the ages. All forms of love affect our lives so profoundly that we may feel both positive and negative emotions in different periods during the day. However, we generally choose to reflect the negative ones. We like to express our regret and make deductions and criticism by uttering sentences starting with 'I wish ...', 'He must have...!', 'You should have...!'. Negative emotions are the result of our thoughts surrounding an event. The way we interpret what happened can change how we experience the event and whether or not it causes stress. There is hardly anyone who might have not heard of the Islamic dervish, and a Sufi poet Mevlânâ Celâleddîn-i Rûmî.

Rumi understood that when people criticise, this is a reflection of their insecurities. He has composed 3000 love songs in the love of God and the beloved Prophet Muhammed. Rumi's quotes on love and life have been affecting millions of people. His choice of words and their description were quite effective. Here are four of them:

"In your light, I learn how to love. In your beauty, how to make poems. You dance inside my chest, where no one sees you, but sometimes I do, and that sight becomes this art. Drumsound rises on the air, its throb, my heart." - Rumi

In this beautiful verse, Rumi speaks about the inspiration of love. As a spiritual man, he may have referred to his love for God. However, love comes in different forms; from a parent, a child, or a companion. That love gives the most significant source of inspiration, expressing itself through art, music, and goodwill.

"Humble living does not diminish. It fills. Going back to a simpler self gives wisdom." - Rumi Rumi describes how true happiness comes when you keep things simple. When you cherish the basics of life, like a walk in the sunshine or the breeze on your skin, you learn to find joy in every moment.

"Don't grieve from what doesn't come. Some things that don't happen keep disasters from happening." - Rumi

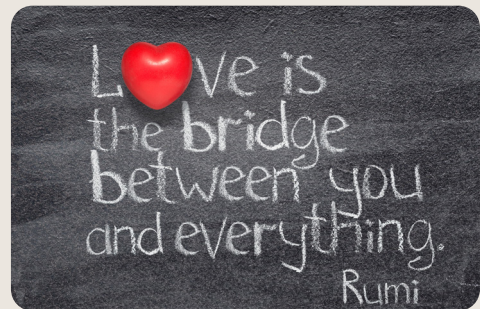

When things don't go as planned, it can make you sad. For example, a job fails before completion or a relationship doesn't work out. If you have faith and let go of expectations, you relieve your pain. Rumi reminds you to trust the direction and timing of your life, and you will flow through the ups and downs.

"Love is the bridge between you and everything." - Rumi

As we all know, love is God for Rumi; he must have meant spiritual love with this quote. But, from a broad perspective, this quote means that love is the best alternative for achieving everything in life. It has the power to create a bridge between you and anything you want to reach there.

If love is the bridge between you and abundance, acceptance, courage, judgment, health, meaningful relations, peace, pleasure, success, and wisdom, wouldn't you like to be pushed by this incredible force every day of your lives? If your answer is yes, start today with yourself, and that action will be the key that will unlock all the doors.

2 Read the text and answer the questions.

1. Who was Rumi?

2. What does the statement "Trust the direction and timing of your life" refer to?

3. Do you agree with the fourth quote, "Love is the bridge between you and everything?" Why/not?

3 Match the highlighted words in the text with their synonyms. One is extra.

1	plentifulness	⊖	_____	4	enduring	⊖	_____
2	modest	⊖	_____	5	succeed	⊖	_____
3	lessen	⊖	_____	6	appreciate	⊖	_____

4 Fill in the blanks by using the words in Activity 3 in the correct form.

- I _____ the favour you did for me the other day. I don't know what would I have done if you weren't there for me.
- Jim looked so happy yesterday. He must have _____ in his presentation.
- The _____ mystery of whether we are alone in the universe might already have been solved by scientists.
- You must have _____ when you heard the medical analysis report.
- _____ in the food supply is necessary for the street animals, especially for the cold, snowy winter days.

5 Choose the correct answer according to the text.

- In the love of God and the beloved Prophet Muhammed, Rumi has _____.
a) narrated three hundred love poems
b) composed three thousand love songs
- We can infer from the first quote that _____.
a) there are various forms of love for people which give them the inspiration to produce
b) many forms of love create confusion in people's minds, so they should choose only one of them
- When people live simply and know the value of every little thing, _____.
a) they enjoy life better than anyone else
b) they always feel something is missing in their lives

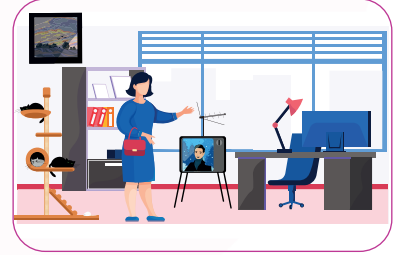

Skill-based Activity

1 Read the events below. What do you think were the reasons for these events? Write two different explanations for each.

A Two teenagers were having dinner in a restaurant. One of them suddenly got up and rushed out of the restaurant.

B A woman living alone returned home and found the TV and radio turned on. She hadn't left them on when she went out.

C Two friends met again after not seeing each other for many years. One looked at the other and burst into laughter.

2 Read the criticisms in the box, choose two sentences and invent stories about them.

▶ He shouldn't have parked there.

▶ They shouldn't have gone to the beach at midday.

▶ She shouldn't have told anybody.

▶ You should have worn a suit.

▶ He should have taken his credit card with him.

▶ You should have taken some water with you.

*E.g. We visited our uncle last night. He moved to their new house last week. My father didn't notice that he had left the car in a 'No Parking' area, and the police towed away his car. He shouldn't have parked there.

B The woman might have forgotten that her brother had asked to stay overnight, and he must have been asleep when she came home. / The woman's cat could have played with the remote control for the radio and TV, accidentally turning them both on.

2 — Students' own answers

Fun Time

Elevator: The man is very short. While he can easily reach the ground floor button in the elevator, he can't reach any higher than the eight-floor button.

Bridge: She was doing a bungee jump.

William: William is a cat.

Twins: When she went into labour, the mother of the twins was travelling by boat. The older twin, Sam, was born first early on March 1st. The ship then crossed the International Date Line, going from the West of the line (Japan side) to the east of the line (America side), and Sebastian, the younger twin, was born on February 28th. Therefore, the younger twin celebrates his birthday two days before his older brother every leap year.

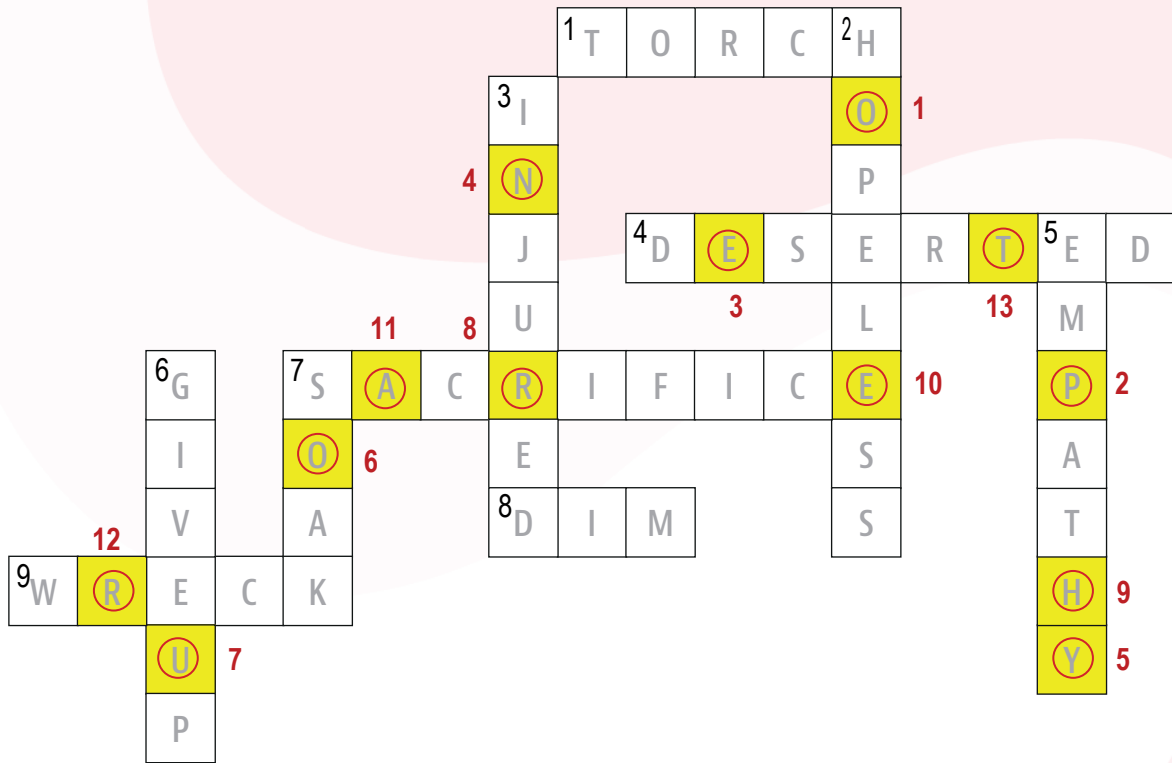

Poison: The poison was in the ice cubes. Mr Smith drank his beverage before the ice melted.
